ANNUAL SESSION OF BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Seventeen Cities and Towns Are Represented at Session

Delegates from seventeen cities and towns of New Hampshire assembled on Tuesday in the Middle Street Baptist church for the fifty-ninth annual session of the Portsmouth Baptist Sunday School convention.

The meeting was featured by various addresses on Sunday school, the electing of officers and the submitting of reports which indicate the prosperity of the convention.

Harry W. Wendell of this city, president of the convention, presided over the meeting. The devotional service of the morning meeting was conducted by Rev. C. A. Towne of Plaislow. President Wendell delivered the welcoming speech. Reports were submitted by Ernest N. Seavey of Newton, who is secretary-treasurer of the convention. Edith Shannon sang a solo and Rev. Joseph D. Matthews of Brentwood gave an address on "Opportunity as Applied to Sunday School Work." Rev. O. C. Sargent, secretary of the state Baptist organization, spoke on "Trunk Lines in Sunday School Work." Discussion of the subject preceded dinner, which was served by the ladies' societies of the Middle Street Baptist church.

The devotional service of the afternoon was conducted by Rev. J. P. Moulton of this city, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church. Reports of the committees appointed by President Wendell and of the cradle

TAFT FORCES WIN FIRST SHOW OF STRENGTH

HEARING ON CONTESTED DELEGATES

Three Hours Allowed to Hear
Both Sides.

(Special to The Herald.)
CHICAGO, June 19.—The Republican convention was called to order at 11 o'clock. Hardly had the convention begun its session when Governor Hadley of Missouri opposed the seating of ninety-two contested Taft delegates and moved that the Roosevelt men be substituted. The Chairman allowed three hours for the rival sides to present their claims.

In a speech delivered last night Colonel Roosevelt said he would not decide by the decision of such a contested Taft delegates were allowed to vote.

On the other hand Governor Hadley and other Roosevelt leaders say that they will abide by the decision of the convention.

Republican Convention Opens With a Tremendous Crowd Present-- Root Elected Temporary Chairman Over Governor McGovern.

CHICAGO, June 18.—As the seats in the Coliseum began to fill up with delegates to the Republican National Convention, the twenty big patrolmen who had been sitting in the front row of delegates' seats, stood up and "bent" so as to front upon the "arena" where so soon the greatest factional struggle in recent political history was expected to break into action, thus far there had not been a ripple of any sort. The occasion for which the people were gathering might as well have been a horse-show or a theatrical performance. The proportion of women present was comparatively small, and there was a rather marked absence of conspicuous gowns and millinery. A big mahogany gavel and a sounding-board of the same material were placed for Chairman Roosevelt to be resigned presently to whoever the convention might choose as temporary chairman. Chairman New of the arrangements committee and Sergeant-at-Arms Stone bent their heads in conference for a moment over the table, Colonel Stone laying with the gavel as though he would rap the convention to order and start the day's momentous happenings.

At ten minutes of twelve practically all of the delegates were on the floor, but many of them either had not located or had not taken their seats. The aisles were choked and there was much confusion. The hall was veritable "Babel." Above the roar of the conversation, of calls and yells the big band from its lofty perch kept pouring out music.

POPULAR COUPLE ARE MARRIED THIS MORNING

Church of the Immaculate Conception Scene of a Pretty Wedding.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 8 o'clock this morning when Anna Francis Mooney became the bride of William Eaton Winn. A large number of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R.

The bride was attired in white satin, trimmings of silver and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of brides roses.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth C. Mooney, who wore white silk marquisette over pink satin.

The flower girls were the Misses Mary and Genevieve Quinn, who wore white muslin.

The best man was Timothy J. Burns.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride on Islington road where a wedding breakfast was served, consisting of lobster and chicken salad, cold turkey, ham, olives, relish, assorted cake, ice cream, fruit and coffee. The dining room was very pretty in decorations of cut flowers, palms and ferns. Handsome and costly wedding gifts were numerous, consisting of silver, cut glass, china and embroidery.

In the exchange of gifts the bride received a diamond ring from the groom, the groom gold cuff links from the bride, the best man a gold stickpin from the groom and the bridesmaid a gold cross and chain from the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn left on the afternoon train for Vermont and Rhode Island. The bride's traveling dress was a pretty creation of dark blue serge, with hat to match.

On their return they will reside at 800 Islington street.

Guests were present from Boston, Lynn, Brockton, Exeter and Dover.

The young couple are decidedly popular and a large circle of friends and acquaintances join in wishing them all the joys of a long wedded life.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT

Rev. Lyle Gaither Contributes To the Program.

A good sized audience gathered at the Methodist church to listen to a very pleasing entertainment given by the young people of the church. Each number on the program was very well given. Mr. Gaither being very fine in his impersonations of Shylock and other characters in the court scene.

Mrs. Leavitt speaks in a very pleasing manner and easily captured her audience in her description of Mrs. McWilliams and her "conductor" of lightning.

Mrs. Warren was very fine in her "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" and as an encore "Age," by Riley, was given with great feeling and brought tears to every eye. Her acting in a monologue describing a woman attending a theatre with her husband brought down the house.

Mrs. Corbin and Miss Beyer each rendered very beautiful solos and their duet "The Venetian Song" was splendidly given.

The program was as follows:
Organ Prelude,
Miss Miller

commanding as that occupied by lag out more or less mournful tunes.

Victor Rosewater began pounding for order at 12:02. The band was droning away at the time and it was with some difficulty that the musicians could be induced to desist.

Finally they did so, and then Sergeant-at-Arms Stone called for his assistants to clear the aisles.

The effort to secure order was interrupted by the appearance through a side door of a big transparency carried by the La Follette delegates from Wisconsin. A cheer swept the hall as the sign was carried across before the stage.

Senator Dixon was busy making a list sounding of the Roosevelt forces while the sergeant-at-arms sought to clear the aisles. He was aided by Governors Deneen of Illinois and Hadley of Missouri.

The packed aisles yielded slow to the pressure and every now and then the sergeant-at-arms would advance and megaphone, "Everyone must get out of the aisles."

A reading-clerk with a foghorn voice finally got attention at 12:15 p. m., and announced that a flashlight picture was about to be taken. The crowd was quiet. Then came a tremendous "boom" as the flashlight exploded. The band broke into the "Star Spangled Banner" and a delegate called amid cheers "The opening gun."

Governor Hadley of Missouri, the Roosevelt floor leader, took a position with the Illinois delegates, equally as James E. Watson of Indiana, the Taft floor leader.

Rosewater at last got the attention of the delegates with the assistance of the reading clerk with the big voice and a megaphone.

"The hour of twelve having arrived," said Rosewater, glancing at a slip of paper, "and a quorum manifestly being present, the convention will be in order while Rev. Fr. Callahan will invoke divine blessing."

The introduction of the clergyman was greeted with applause. The prayer was short. During its delivery Rosewater kept a close eye on the minister and on the body of delegates.

Many delegates murmured the Lord's Prayer with Fr. Callahan.
Immediately following the prayer of the chaplain in opening the Republican National Convention, Herbert S.
Hadley of Missouri raised a question of information; he took the platform amid cheers of his delegation.

He moved to substitute a new temporary roll for that of the National Committee. Watson of Indiana raised a point of order against his motion.
Chairman Rosewater sustained the point of order, but gave each side twenty minutes for debate.

Watson of Indiana followed Hadley to the platform, while Barnes of New York rose to a point of order.

Watson raised the point of order that no business was in order until the convention is organized. Watson's point well taken, Hadley says he asked for information only. Then moved that temporary roll be amended by removing names of certain delegates and other names substituted.

Watson's point was sustained, but Chairman Rosewater gave Hadley twenty minutes. Governor Fort of New Jersey and Deneen, Illinois, called to the platform.

Each side was given twenty minutes for debate of Hadley's motion.

Hadley then took the floor in support of his motion.

Mr. Hadley declared that any candidate named by this convention unfairly will have tainted candidacy.

Sereno E. Payne of New York was summoned to the stage by the Taft forces. As each of the champions took the stage a round of cheers swept the hall, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and California yelling wildly for Roosevelt leaders.

"I rose to a question of information," answered Governor Hadley,
"preliminary to making a motion."
"Until I had made that motion there was nothing to make a point of order against. I still have the recognition of the chair." Again cheers broke out.

Governor Hadley then presented his formal motion, to take from the temporary roll the Taft delegates and substitute the Roosevelt delegates in certain contested States.

Mr. Watson renewed his point of order before the list was read. "The point of order seems to be well taken," said Rosewater, "but, if the governor will address himself to the point of order, we will hear him for twenty minutes, not wishing to be arbitrary."

Governor Hadley called to the platform Governor Deneen of Illinois and former Governor Fort of New Jersey.
Secretary Hayward announced to the delegates that each side would be heard for twenty minutes.

Ex-Governor Fort of New Jersey followed, defending Hadley's motion.
Governor Fort declared the convention is making a precedent for all time—whether convention controls its own personnel.

"Shall this convention sustain the National Committee?" asked Mr. Fort.
There were loud and long-continued cries of "No."

"Let's determine this question now
—if not, it might be too late," said
Governor Fort.

Fort concluded amid cheers.

Finally the opinion of the chair was sustained and the convention got down to the business of electing a temporary chairman. The Taft forces placed in nomination Senator Root as their candidate and the Roosevelt forces placed Governor McGovern of Wisconsin. It was late in the afternoon before the vote was recorded, and Senator Root was nominated by a vote of Root, 558; McGovern, 502.

The convention then adjourned until Wednesday forenoon.

President Taft gained a victory in the first show down of strength at the Republican convention in Chicago on Tuesday. The real test came on the election of the temporary chairman. Col. Roosevelt, who is bitterly opposed to Senator Root for chairman had put in the field Governor Mc-Govern of Wisconsin, by thus hoping to get the delegation from that state.
The count came late in the afternoon, and then it was announced that the vote stood, Root, 558; McGovern, 502.

TO INSTITUTE LODGE OF ELKS.

Portsmouth Lodge to Assist at Franklin.

Mr. W. A. Doherty, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of New Hampshire, Elks, was here on Tuesday and made arrangements for a delegation of the local lodge to assist him in instituting a lodge at Franklin, on Tuesday, June 25.

It has been arranged for the delegation which will be made up of those who desire to make the trip, to leave this city on Tuesday forenoon in automobiles and they will arrive in Franklin that afternoon. The return home will be made by moonlight, as soon as the banquet which will follow the work, is over.

N. H. DELEGATES WELL LOCATED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 17.—New Hampshire is certainly on the map this year at the National Republican Convention and the quarters secured by National Committeeman F. W. Estabrook at the Hotel La Salle are equal to any. The delegates are quartered in suites on the 7th floor. The headquarters are at room 709 and it is neatly arranged and decorated with flags and our own State flag.

Ex-Governor Charles M. Floyd did himself proud on Sunday evening by giving a dinner to the delegates and alternates at the Blackstone, and seventeen plates were laid and it was a grand success.

The party was as follows: Charles
M. Floyd, Prof. Amman of Exeter, R.
H. Spaulding of Rochester, A. O.
Brown, Albert Gilbert Berlin, H. E.
Slayton of Manchester, Lyford A.
Morrow of Ossipee, W. F. Thayer of Concord, W. H. Topping of Manchester,
F. W. Hartford of Portsmouth,
John Marshall, Albert Precourt, H. O.
Helm of Manchester, Frank Seavey of Dover, Herbert Faulkner, C. Gale Shedd of Keene.

This morning the delegates met and made the following selections:
Committee on Credentials, F. W.
Estabrook; Committee on Resolutions, Fernando W. Hartford; Committee on Organization, L. A. Mer-row; Committee on Rules, H. E.
Slayton; to notify candidate for President, Charles M. Floyd; to notify Vice President, A. O. Brown, Vice President of the Convention, C.
Gale Shedd.

The guess of anyone in New Hampshire is just as good as anyone here, as to the result. T. R. shook hands with a mob this morning, making "threats" as he greeted each one.
He is very bitter against all those against him.

Colonel John Pender and Freeman
H. Garrett arrived here today.

CATHOLIC UNION WIN FROM Y. M. C. A. IN FAST GAME

But One Hit and Only Run on Errors--McPheters Makes Sensational Catch.

SUNSET LEAGUE.

P. C. U.	3	2	.600
K. of C.	3	3	.500
Y. M. C. A.	1	4	.200
Riverside	1	4	.200

The Catholic Union defeated the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, in the fastest game of the Sunset League schedule. There was only forty minutes of play and in that time there were four double plays pulled off. Only sixteen of the defeated team faced the pitcher and nineteen of the winning team, and the game other than the spell when the break was bad for the Young Men, was a fine game to watch. The Catholic Union presented the strongest team yet to appear under their name. Kincaid played first and Hughes played short, while Morris was over on third and Thomas in left field. The infield as now composed is a fast one and from now on they will be a hard proposition.

The Y. M. C. A. made some changes also. George McPheters had a sore arm and Bill Leary went into pitch and he did very well, allowing only one hit. McPheters went to second where he played a great game, his catch in the third being the feature of the game. Bill Brackett was at short as Hatch was away.

The winning run was scored in the third, when Kincaid drove a long fly to Howard who after juggling it for several seconds dropped it, Kincaid being on second. He got to third on Charlie Brackett's error, having dropped his brother's throw, after he had his man out, and he scored when he was struck by a thrown ball, which rolled off some distance.

The Y. M. C. A. got four men to first and only two of them reached second and none third. The P. C. U. got seven men to first, three to second, two to third and one home.

The game in detail:

First Inning.

The P. C. U. were first up and they got a good start, but failed to score. W. Lynskey was passed and advanced to second when Kabalka was thrown out by Bill Brackett. Kincaid was safe on Charlie Brackett's run-blo of his har grounder and Hoffman was passed, filling the bases. R. Brackett had a short passed ball and Lynskey attempted to score but was thrown out by R. Brackett to W. Leary. Thomas ended the excitement by fanning.

The Y. M. C. A. were out in order a double play figuring. W. Brackett was passed and he went to third on Frederick's wild throw to second, and R. Brackett was out on a fly to Kabalka. McPheters pushed a hard grounder at Morris who threw him out at first and Bill Brackett was doubled while trying to go home on the throw, Kincaid to Frederick.

Second Inning.

The P. C. U. were retired in fast work. Frederick's singled between first and second, and he was forced at second on Hughes grounder to Leary. Morris shot one to Bill Brackett, who forced Hughes at second and Morris was doubled at first. McPheters to Gowen.

The Y. M. C. A. only had three men up. C. Brackett was out on a fly to Thomas. Remick was out Hughes to Kincaid. Gowen was safe on Hughes' error and went to second before the ball was fielded and he was thrown out by Kabalka a second later.

Third Inning.

The C. U. were out in order, M. Timmons on a high foul fly to R. Brackett, W. Lynskey on a foul fly to Gowen and Kabalka clouted a liner which George McPheters made a running leap for and speared it one handed. It was a great catch and the clever youngster got a great hand.

The Y. M. C. A. were out in order. Howard, Hughes to Kincaid, Leary struck out and Weaver was out on a fly to Thomas.

Fourth Inning.

The P. C. U. scored their only run on errors. Kincaid was safe when Howard after juggling his high fly dropped it. He was safe at third on an error by C. Brackett. Hoffman struck out, and Ralph Brackett threw to third to get Kincaid, and the ball struck him on the back and bounded over C. Brackett's head and he scored. Thomas drew a pass, Frederick's was out on a long fly to Howard, who threw to first in time to catch Thomas.

The Young Men started with W. Brackett being thrown out by Hoffman who made a pretty stop of his hard grounder. R. Brackett was passed. McPheters shot one at Hughes who forced R. Brackett at second, and George just beat out the throw to first for a double. He went to second and around to home on a wild throw by Kabalka to first which rolled through the bleachers, but he was sent back to second as only one base is allowed on a passed ball. C. Brackett struck out.

Fifth Inning.

Hughes started with a pass but he was caught going to second when Morris struck out M. Timmons was out on a pass and Lynskey was out on a high foul fly that Gowen picked off the bleachers.

The Y. M. C. A. did not have a look in. Remick was thrown out on a weak grounder to Kabalka. Gowen was out on a foul fly that Kincaid made a pretty catch of and P. Howard who battled for his brother struck out.

Zimmerman of the Cubs is Now the National League Sensation

New York, June 19.—Heinie Zimmerman, the Chicago Cubs' infielder, is the sensation of the National league this season. His brilliant all-around work has much to do with keeping the team well up in the race. In forty-four games played he has made seventy-one hits, ten two-baggers, eight triples and nine homers. He leads the National league sluggers with a percentage of .435. Besides walling the ball hard, Heinie is playing a grand fielding game and running the bases well.

COL. PENDER AT CHICAGO

They say National Committeeman Fred W. Estabrook of Nashua picked the La Salle for the Granite Staters, thereby qualifying as a picker. One New Hampshire man, however, has time and again wandered away from the quiet precincts of LaSalle street, lot cope with the rough Roosevelt people of the Congress Hotel.

The bold'un is State Senator John Pender of Portsmouth, who likes nothing better than to wander into the midst of a Roosevelt crowd, declare that Taft is one of our greatest presidents and one of the most abused men in all history, and proceed to give the statistics.

Ten times yesterday one of the Congress House detectives had to coax Colonel Pender out of a Congress Hotel mob in order that the hotel might proceed about its regular business of being a hotel. "What State are you from, anyhow?" one rough neck asked the Portsmouth Senator. "New Hampshire," was the reply, spoken like a man.

"Hell," quoth the fellow (a very fellow, he was, this fellow). "Hell," says he. "We got Wards in Chicago bigger'n all New Hampshire." "Well," said Colonel Pender, "that may all be, but I want to tell you

ARE YOU FOR YOUR TOWN?

Under this heading the publisher of the Colfax (Ind.) Standard, in a recent editorial, expressed his opposition to the Parcels Post bill now pending before Congress and called upon the people of that community to lend their efforts in the fight to prevent the passage of the bill. He says:

"Are you for your town?"

"If your answer is 'yes,'

"Then you should patronize the merchants who have stores in your town unless they should not have the articles in their store which you desire to purchase.

"If your town merchants do not have them and the merchants in a larger city in the county have them and advertise them to be sold at special sales, then you do not show your disloyalty to your home merchants by buying there. The stores are the backbone of any town or city and it makes no difference how small or how large that town or city is.

"During the three months which the present publisher of the Standard has had charge of the paper he has had the loyal support of the Colfax merchants which he greatly appreciates and has tried to make such a paper as would deserve such patronage.

"There is now pending in the United States Congress, a law which, if passed, will be a big factor against the ability of the local merchants to succeed. It is the Parcels Post law, which, if passed, would help the trusts who operate the great stores in the cities and they would be given the opportunity of selling alleged high class, but really a poorer class, of merchandise at the price that if the rural subscribers of the country town papers 'take the bait,' the merchants in those towns would be hit such a hard blow that many of them could not survive. If this condition should exist, which the Standard publisher hopes never will, it would be hard to estimate its magnitude.

"There is a general opinion among the country town publishers that the most effective means of preventing the passage of the Parcels Post law will be for the merchants of the country and rural route subscribers who do most of their trading in these towns, to send letters to congressmen remonstrating against the passage of the law."

The publisher of the Standard views the Parcels Post measure in the same light that hundreds of other publishers do. The small town merchant is an important and essential member of the community and anything that injures his business is harmful to the people of the vicinity as a whole.

Every publisher knows the serious competition of the big mail-order houses the merchants of his town are now forced to contend with, and the conditions after the passage of the Parcels Post law that would greatly increase this competition can readily be imagined.

Boost Portsmouth—One way to do it is to buy bread made by local bakers.

The voters of Kittery still have confidence in Hon. Horace Mitchell, judging by the size of the vote that he received at Monday's primaries.

It may be interesting to note, in the event of Col. Roosevelt receiving the republican nomination for president, the readiness of some who have been bitterly opposed to his candidacy to get on the band wagon. It was ever thus.

The Washington Star says while probing the mysteries of finance some collateral questions might be taken up. For instance, it would be interesting to know why the government at Washington, in the opinion of several economists, is crippled to such an extent as to suggest that its working force ought to be placed on a basis of temporary employment at the lowest possible rate of compensation.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says as late as sixteen years ago a nominating speech in a national convention carried enough weight to affect the result of the ballots. Some other nominating speech this year may have as great an effect, but it is extremely doubtful. Convention oratory has become one of the "fossies." It ranks with the decorations, the flags and the portraits—commendable on general principles, but not to be considered as influencing results. No one cares much what a nominator says; least of all do the delegates care.

The Philadelphia Telegraph asks did you ever notice a certain strange thing about graft exposures? The public usually flies into a fury against the wicked politician who has accepted a bribe and quite overlooks the fact that the corporation which paid the bribe, in fighting physical disease we have sense enough to seek out the cause and remove that, paying less attention to symptoms. Yet in combating civic decay we pay all our attention to the effect (bribe taker) and think very little about the cause (bribe payer). Is it strange we have had no more success?

The New York Times says: New York is not the only city where the suburbs are growing faster than the central section. Chicago's outer district grew twice as fast as New York's, or by 87 per cent, as compared with 45. Pittsburgh's suburbs increased by 49 per cent and the Oakland district of San Francisco by 59. These figures illustrate that the normal growth of a city is in concentric rings, like a tree. Other things being equal, a city will expand equally in all directions tributary to

CURRENT OPINION

WILLIAM E. SKINNER,
Of Denver, President International Live Stock Exposition Association.

Country's Live Stock Supply is Rapidly Diminishing.

WE have got into bad shape in this country through not having been prepared for the period through which we passed during the last five years. I mean the farming of the range. In other words, the range has almost entirely disappeared and most of the land formerly given over to grazing has been settled by farmers. The farmer has not yet adjusted himself to live stock growing.

In the Panhandle of Texas they used to produce 300,000 to 400,000 calves a year to be taken to the northern ranges. This part of the country has been totally eliminated from the breeding business and has been taken up by farmers who are endeavoring to raise cotton.

We have been marketing for the last six or seven years cows and heifers and calves until we have reduced the possibility of growth in the industry. In the meantime, while this has been going on, our population has been increasing at the enormous rate of three million a year.

the central core, which is always the market district. But it is obvious that any unsuitability of building area or of traffic facilities will impede growth in one direction and unduly stimulate it in another direction. This has been the character of New York's abnormal growth, and the approaching increase of traffic accommodations will emphasize the tendency of population to correct this by spreading from the market center.

Bird's-Eye Views.

That people who go to sea must take risks, as various steamship officials declare, cannot be contradicted. But the passenger has a right to expect that the percentage of chance in his favor shall be as great as possible.

A Coney Island amusement promoter has gone into bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as something over $650,000 and his assets as less than $8,000. There is high finance on the seashore as well as in Wall street.

Spectacular demonstrations at a convention may become so important that every candidate will be expected to send ahead a corps of trained supernumeraries and a carload of scenery.

Marylanders will never understand why the democrats should hold their mammoth assemblage in the state just when the strawberry-shortcake season has gone into decline.

If the Republican party should nominate Charles E. Hughes it would be sure proof that it believes in the result of judges.

Some of the tables which have been published giving the presidential alignment are sure to be knocked into a cocked hat.

There are some things to be thankful for. Housecleaning is done, the bill is out of sight and the presidential nominations will soon be made.

The house is trying to stop fictitious purchases of cotton. This denies the inalienable right of the people to go into business on a capital of 25 cents spent or a telegram to the bucket shop.

The democratic candidates will have difficulty in making the Baltimore convention as great a display of political emotional drama as Chicago is witnessing.

Gov. Dix of New York recently went abroad for six weeks. The governor of the Empire state never appears to be as hard worked as the mayor of New York city.

Alleged discovery of steam roller bandits in Chicago looks like an effort to keep up with the stories of automobile brigands in Paris.

The ice bill will now take the front seat that the coal bill has so long occupied, and the latter will take a vacation of a few months.

Opportunity is knocking at the door of the democratic party, an exchange remarks. It is also knocking at the door of the republican party.

William Jennings Bryan is to be at the Republican national convention as a press reporter. They may spring him as a compromise candidate.

By some strange omission, no one has suggested that the republican national committee rise and sing 23 verses of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

With Taft, Roosevelt, Cummins and La Follette all prepared for hostilities, the square deal is overshadowed by the four-cornered fight.

ADVERTISING PORTSMOUTH

I want to say first, what I have to say in this article I do not say as an enemy of Portsmouth but as a friend, for I see opportunities for grand developments which seem to be overlooked. I hope by what I may say some greater mind than mine will get at work and suggest some improvements which will be a help to make this city what it ought to be, one of the most prosperous and important cities in New England.

Last fall, I think it was, there was an effort made to have every one talk and advertise New Hampshire and Portsmouth by calling attention to its advantages and its beauties which no one could object to, and no one could overstate its natural advantages and beauty, but unfortunately we have to stop with the word "Natural." I do not believe there is in New England if in the United States a spot where nature has done more to make it attractive as a residence or for business than right here. A harbor unexcelled, a location which could not be improved either, for beauty or for productiveness, and a climate which for healthfulness certainly cannot be excelled in this world today. I have seen a little of the world and I mean just what I say. Now any one who takes an interest in Portsmouth naturally asks if this is true why has the population of the city only increased a trifle over ten per cent in 80 years, and it is doubtful if there is as much business done here now as in 1830, when the population was 8080, in 1910 it was 11,239, 80 years.

I do not propose to go back and trace the reasons which I think have led to present conditions only to call the attention of the reader to a few of the present conditions, when I think will illustrate best conditions and show where improvements can be made. I shall take the last first and see where the trouble is as I think. The Portsmouth and Exeter electric R. R. which in my judgment should be one of the leading arteries of supply for Portsmouth. It has been built and operated for quite a number of years and has not paid, running between the only city and the largest town in the county, with the richest and best farming country in this region, with two quite nice little villages between. Why? If any one who traveled over it would keep his eyes open he could easily see why it did not pay. Running only once in two hours, and leaving about ten minutes before any one on the Maine side of the river could get there, so they had to wait from one to two hours before a car would leave. After taking a car in Portsmouth they go out to the Plains and are dumped out in the sand or mud, snow or rain, hot or cold and may have to wait for a car, and in the case of ladies coming in to do shopping, going home with half a dozen packages and liable to drop some or get in a crowded car and have to stand up. These circumstances are not very apt to tempt one to ride unless it is a necessity.

It seems to me very plain why the road did not pay. Now when the owners decide to sell and offered a road which I think is about fourteen miles long and all the property for about fifty-five thousand dollars, so it could be put in first class order or about $75,000, which if done and run to accommodate the public instead of trying to see how little they could have cars run over the road for, would be a good paying stock as any in New Hampshire. Three Men Who Are Prominent In the News That Comes From the Chicago Convention.

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

Names of a lot of big men appear in the dispatches from the Republican national convention in Chicago. Prominent among these have been George W. Perkins and John Hays Hammond. Neither has any official connection with the convention proper. Mr. Perkins is one of the financial backers of the Roosevelt campaign, while Mr. Hammond is one of the staunchest Taft men. Governor William E. Glasscock of West Virginia created something of a sensation by declaring that the presidential electors from his state would vote for Roosevelt even if Taft were the convention nominee. From left to right in the illustration are Governor Glasscock, Mr. Perkins and Mr. Hammond.

HEAVY TRAVEL ON RAILROAD

Annual Pilgrimage to Mountain and Seashore Now Under Way.

With the closing of the schools and various educational institutions throughout the country, the students, school children and their parents, in anticipation of the coming hot season, are wending their way to the seashore, lakes and other summer resorts. Although the season is not advanced enough for activity at the mountains an unusually large number are, day by day, observed boarding trains towards that portion of the state's playground.

The camper, hiker and general lover of out door life are daily coming into their own with the result that the trains are crowded. The increasing travel is extremely noticeable at Portsmouth depot and the loads of baggage that are being daily transported over the York branch attest the fact that the season is on.

MR. GRAHAM

DENIES THAT HE REFUSED AID

Claims He Assisted Captain Johnson All In His Power.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Graham were the "mysterious" couple who participated in the near-tragedy on the Piscataqua river in which Captain Johnson of the power boat Phryne was the principal actor.

Mr. Graham denies the newspaper stories which told of his alleged refusal to assist Captain Johnson and his story of the affair is verified by Capt. Richard O'Brien, a boat builder, who put off to the rescue of Mr. and Mrs. Graham and Captain Johnson.

Mr. Graham's story is as follows: "Mrs. Graham and I went to the city landing off Mechanic street for our boat to row to our summer home at New Castle. While we were preparing to enter our boat we heard the screaming of a man evidently overboard. I told my wife to leave the boat and remain on the landing while I went to the rescue of the man in the river. She said, 'No, I will stay with you, John,' and so I pushed off the boat and rowed in the direction from which the screams for assistance seemed to come. Had I not been desirous of assisting the man overboard, as indicated in the newspapers, I would have rowed to my summer home, which is in the opposite direction from that in which the man was in the water.

"I overtook the man at a point opposite Jameson's wharf. I reached over the side of the boat and seized him, at the same time saying to him, 'I will save you, my friend. You are all right but don't try to climb into our boat or we will all go down.' As the man seemed to be weakening, I obtained a firm hold on him with one hand while with the other I rowed in an attempt to direct the course of the boat to a landing. Any one who knows the terrific flow of the Piscataqua river would realize my task.

"We had drifted to a point opposite the wharf of the Rockingham County Light and Power company and were gradually making toward the shore when Mr. O'Brien overtook us in his power boat. As his boat was larger than ours he took the stranger in. I then rowed back to the wharf and gave the man what assistance I could. I told me not to go for a physician, as I suggested, as he said he had plenty of medicine and clothing in the boat. I then left him in Mr. O'Brien's care. It is regrettable that an erroneous story should be told the reading public in view of the fact that I went out of my way and did my best to save the man, who is still unknown to me."

BUTLER AND JEWELRY ARE STILL MISSING

The whereabouts of William Thomas, the English butler for G. M. Studebaker, and location of $15,000 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Studebaker, are still a mystery to the police.

From the time Thomas was seen leaving the summer home of the Studebakers at Little Bear's Head, on Monday evening, two hours before it was discovered that the family safe had been opened and the jewelry taken, he has not been seen. How he got away from North Hampton, whether by automobile furnished by an accomplice, a motor boat, or by walking over to North Hampton and taking a train is still unknown to the police. The authorities are convinced that robbery was the motive of Thomas accepting the position as butler with the Studebakers, and they think that he is a slick thief. Thomas took every precaution before he stole the jewelry. All of the wires leading to the servant's quarters had been cut, and the safe was opened by an expert.

Tuesday Deputy Shaw and Deputy Marshal Hurley went over the road in an automobile to Boston, and they were still in Boston last night.

WILL BE A GOOD GAME.

The game this evening will be between the P. A. C. and the Elks, and it should be a fast one, as the Elks are coming fast.

Chicago authorities should resist to the utmost any effort to drag the local police force permanently into national politics.

ANOTHER FIGHT ON THE TEXAS BORDER

JUAREZ, Mex., June 18.—Distinct tension is manifest here today over the news of the latest Government plans to capture this town and the city of Chihuahua, the only important Rebel points.

The approach of the big Federal columns from the State of Sonora, makes it obvious fighting will occur close to the American border within a few days.

That American officials are expecting an engagement is indicated by correspondence made public yesterday between Col. E. Z. Stever, commander of the Department of Texas, and Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the Rebel commander-in-chief and head of the Juarez garrison. Col. Stever cautions the Rebel commander that in case of an encounter at Juarez, "You must so conduct operations as not to bring any part of the territory of the United States under fire."

Col. Orozco agreed to meet the conditions imposed by Col. Stever, but without promising to do so in case the American authorities sanction the passing to this side of the Maderista troops which are being recruited in El Paso.

An incident that added to the ill feeling against Americans, which admittedly has prevailed here, was the difficulty of Mrs. Pascual Orozco, Jr., wife of the rebel commander-in-chief, in crossing to El Paso yesterday. Senora Orozco was halted with other immigrants at the International Bridge until her identity was established.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE PUBLICITY BOARD.

June 17, 1912.

The annual commencement week exercises held this year proved to be among the most successful in the history of the college. The opening ceremony was the baccalaureate service. On Sunday morning the college battalion, in full dress uniform, and with due ceremony escorted the senior class to the church. With the three companies at "present arms" and the musicians sounding "church call" the seniors marched past the battalion and filed within the church, followed by the cadet officers and the rest of the battalion. An organ prelude "Offertoire" by Edward Baliste by C. J. Dresser, '14, was followed by regular services in which a tenor soloist, Mr. Harry A. Hopkins of Lowell, Mass., and a male chorus under the direction of Prof. F. W. Putnam, furnished fitting music. The speaker of the day was Rev. Burton W. Lockhart of the Franklin street Congregational church of Manchester, N. H., who delivered an inspiring sermon to an appreciative audience.

On Monday evening was held the annual prize drill for excellency in military efficiency. James A. Tufte, Jr., of Exeter, N. H., J. S. Elliott of Madbury, and T. P. Reardon received the gold, silver and bronze medals for the individual drill; while P. C. Gale of Concord won the prize sword.

The class day exercises took place Tuesday afternoon in the chapel. H. R. Tucker, president of the class, delivered the "Address of Welcome" and the "Address to the Faculty and Undergraduates" by O. E. Huse followed. After this the class historian, P. D. Buckminster, held the audience with tales of deeds of the past, and H. C. Holden convulsed the audience with the "Class Will." The college orchestra furnished music.

After the exercises the guests of the seniors adjourned to the lawn in front of the Library and the near-

A NEW REMEDY FOR SKIN TROUBLES

Many skin troubles are not caused by the blood as most people think. External treatment is therefore the most direct and rational way to effect a cure. A chemist who was convinced of this fact found that an extract of the plant Juniperus Oxycedrus was most soothing and healing to an irritated, inflamed or diseased skin. By a special method of treating ingredients, and is known as "Walden's" extract. It is now combined with other antiseptic, healing ingredients and is known as "Walden's" extract. It stops the terrible itching with the first application. Cadum can be used with confidence in all skin affections of infants and adults. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, blotches, rashes, eruptions, sores, rough skin, chafing, itching, piles. Of all drug stores, 10c & 25c.

graduates filed after them. Upon their arrival at the Library the ivy oration was delivered by Jerauld A. Munter. After this solemn and inspiring oration President Herbert R. Tucker placed upon the roots of the class vine the first trowel full of soil. Following him the other members of the class initiated his performance while "Auld Lang Syne" was sung. When the whole class had filed by and the planting was completed, the 43 New Hampshire graduates with uncovered heads reverently rendered "Athena Mater." The vines were planted in front of the library at the east side of the steps and their location is marked by a bronze plate, three and a half by six inches, engraved in old Roman, "1912" and fastened to the foundation of the building.

At the conclusion of the ceremony all adjourned to the campus to see the sophomores handily beat the freshmen at baseball by the score 7 to 3.

In the evening the Glee Club presented one of the most successful entertainments ever seen in Durham. The feature of the evening was The Tower Scene from "Il Travatore" in which H. B. Catlin, leader of the club was the feature, playing the part of Leonora.

The graduating exercises on Wednesday morning were honored by the discoverer of the North Pole, Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, U. S. N. He spoke of the contrast between the Arctic and Antarctic regions and briefly outlined the history of explorations in these antipodes.

President William D. Gibbs, in behalf of the trustees conferred bachelors degrees upon 43 seniors.

The commencement dinner was held in the gymnasium at noon. President W. D. Gibbs of the college presiding. Herbert R. Tucker spoke in behalf of the retired class, Hon. H. L. Boutwell, in behalf of the alumni and Rear Admiral Peary, as the orator of the day. Other impromptu speakers were called upon.

In the afternoon the regular alumni meeting was held and in the evening the senior promenade. H. B. Catlin of Hill was marshal, while in the receiving line stood President H. R. Tucker of the class, Mrs. W. D. Gibbs, Mrs. F. W. Putnam, Mrs. T. R. Arkell, and Mrs. B. E. Curry.

The aids were P. C. Gale, D. B. Keyes, P. C. Jones, V. E. Leavitt, G. F. Lane, C. A. McPheters, P. A. Roser and E. C. Williams.

At the exercises of the morning the following prizes were awarded for athletic standing highest in rank, gold medal, C. M. Lowd of Clinton, Mass.; silver medal, H. C. Holden of Manchester, N. H.; prize for proficiency in chemistry, J. E. Robinson of Pembroke, N. H.; prize for greatest improvement, Miss E. G. Donnelly of Dover, N. H.

The following men received scholarships: Special honors, G. W. Berry; honors, J. H. Bachelier, L. H. Bunker, A. G. Davis, E. G. Donnelly, P. I. Gowen, C. H. Hadley, Jr., B. M. Hayes, H. C. Holden, E. B. Jennings, Alan Leighton, J. A. Munter, M. J. O'Malley, J. E. Robinson, R. E. Shinner, H. R. Tucker and A. G. Wood.

The Work So Nobly Done.

From home and fireside in the olden manor,
Leaving behind their children, wives and kin,
They rallied underneath our glorious banner,
And gave their lives the sacred right to win.

They saved the Union—union which had perished
But for the courage which their deeds revealed;
No stripes were taken from the flag they cherished,
No star was blotted from its azure field.

The old survivors of that fight victorious,
Some still remain, yet leave us one by one;
They die, but never die their actions glorious—
They die, but lives the work so nobly done.

—Thomas Dunn English.

SOLDIER IS MISSING

William Tracy, 20 years old, a soldier stationed at Fort Constitution, has disappeared from the scene of duty and the local police have been advised by the army officials to detain him if possible. An alleged theft is circulated with the story of Tracy's disappearance, but the officers commanding the army reservation say that they are unaware of the report. Tracy wore a khaki uniform at the time of his disappearance.

REGAINS HIS SENSES

Man Lost Memory by Accident; Stroke Restores It.

Pittsburgher, Conscious of Identity Gone Seven Years, Recovers It Through Attack of Paralysis—Remembers Old Friends.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Changed by an accident so greatly that he could not recognize family or friends or recall events of the 50 years of his life Samuel Edleman has now, after seven years of the new mental existence, been switched back to the first by a paralytic stroke, and the seven year period is as greatly a blank as had been his first 50 years.

He has resumed at fifty-seven the trend of events as he knew them at fifty, and keeps his family busy telling him what manner of man he was during the intervening years. Edleman was a blacksmith's helper, when a piece of steel flew from under a hammer and penetrated his brain, destroying his memory. As many fever patients are obliged to learn to walk anew after leaving hospitals, Edleman was compelled to learn to use his brain a second time.

Edleman after the accident did not recognize his wife, his half grown children or his friends. He knew nothing of the blacksmith trade and nothing of the city in which he was born. But his mind was easily trained a second time, and his physical efficiency aided. He was set up in a shoe repairing business, earned fair sums, became a motorman, and during the last census was one of the enumerators. He made new friends, among them those who had known him before his injury, but he could not place their identities except as part of his new existence. It was absolutely impossible for him to realize that the woman and children who served him so devotedly were his wife and children.

Then came a slight stroke of paralysis. He was in bed only a few days. It was warm weather. Edleman, who had been hurt seven years before in the winter time, sat up suddenly and demanded to know what had caused the change from such extreme cold to the beautiful spring day.

"And, Mary, how fat you are," he exclaimed. Mrs. Edleman had grown very stout during the seven years. Then Edleman's oldest daughter came in. She was a young woman and he did not recognize her at first.

Soon friends of his blacksmith days came in, summoned by Mrs. Edleman, and he recognized them instantly, but when a man with whom he had worked for two years for the street railroad entered Edleman did not know him.

Edleman inquired for his brother and although he had attended the brother's funeral three years ago he refused to believe that brother was dead. Finally he began to wonder how he had conducted himself during the seven years. His wife assured him he had been upright and honest, and had made more money than ever before in his life. That phase of the second existence appealed to Edleman, and he conceived the idea of undergoing an operation in an endeavor to restore himself to that condition, but physicians convinced him of its impossibility.

INJURED WHALE TOWS SHIP

Five Bombs Are Necessary to End the Life of a Mammal That Makes a Hard Struggle.

Hogquiam, Wash.—Bringing in a large cow whale, which put up one of the toughest fights ever experienced by whalers out of this port, the steamship Paterson arrived from a cruise down the coast. After the big mammal was harpooned she fought for five hours, several times threatening disaster to the whaling vessel, which got numerous hard bumps. It was finally necessary to fire five bombs before the whale was killed. During the early stages of the battle the whale, with a harpoon firmly imbedded in her flesh, dashed away northward with the whaling steamship in tow at a rate of 20 miles an hour.

While off the Columbia river, the crew of the Paterson witnessed a school of cod, pursued by fur seals and porpoises, almost filling the water with a solid mass of fish. Fully a thousand porpoises were in evidence, dashing about and often leaping ten or twelve feet from the water. The fur seal are on their way north to the rockeries of the Alaska peninsula.

The whale brought in by the Paterson is the tenth killed in thirty days. One other whale was shot on the cruise. The bomb killed the animal but the harpoon failed to enter the flesh and the carcass sank. The whalers Paterson and Moran, now operating out of here, soon will be joined by the first of three new steam whalers being built at Seattle.

Falling Window Hurls Boy.
Charlottetown, P. E. I.—Harry Arbing, an 11-year-old boy, was killed here by a strange accident.

He went to his school to fight the fire, and, not having a key, stood on board against the side of the building and climbed to the window. The board slipped and the window came down on his neck, leaving him suspended there. A neighbor noticed the boy hanging from the window and hastened to his rescue, but found he was dead.

COAL CARRYING RAILROADS TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The interstate Commerce Commission, upon its own initiative, ordered an investigation today into the rates, practices and regulations which apply to railroad transportation of hard coal.

All the anthracite roads embraced in the so-called "hard coal trust" will be respondents in the proceeding.

Good Meals at Camp Comfort

The boys at Camp Comfort are using the same stove that they had last year. It was the best they could get. It was a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

This year they got a New Perfection Oven Also a New Perfection Toaster Also a New Perfection Broiler

"Get what a difference in the meals a good stove makes," said one of the boys. So they called their shack "Camp Comfort." And they will tell their mothers and wives about the stove, too. For the New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is as convenient for the home as for the camp. It will bake, broil, roast and toast as well as a regular coal range.

MANY LOSE WEALTH

Monte Carlo Most Noted of Gambling Resorts.

Fortunes Totalling Millions Are Lost Here Every Year—Some of the Victims Seek Death in the Gardens by the Sea.

Paris, France.—The little principality over which His Serene Highness, the Prince of Monaco, and his ancestors have held sway for centuries is an earthly paradise. Yet there is not another spot in all the world that has been responsible for more woe. The great casino at Monte Carlo, where millions are gambled away every year, reaps an annual harvest of death, self-inflicted, of those who toss away their last gold pieces on its tables. No one knows exactly how many penniless gamblers, men and women, kill themselves every year at Monte Carlo. Those who are in a position to know say it is not uncommon to find at least one dead body in the gardens about the casino in the morning when the attendants make their rounds.

But there is much that is cabled far and wide every season about the vast sums that have been won at Monte Carlo. If the money that is reported won each season were really lost by the boss gambler both he and the Prince of Monaco would be hard pushed for ready money in a very short time.

No one who lives in Monaco is allowed ever to enter the gambling house. Therefore the prince and his subjects are the only ones who profit by the tremendous amount of suffering that the place causes year after year. The prince stated not long ago that he was proud of the fact that all his great expenditures for scientific research had been met without the cost of a single pang of misery wrung from his people.

It is not far from the gambling tables to where the rocks shelve abruptly into the sea. Many seek death in the gardens by the sea. Officially no stranger ever dies in Monte Carlo.

On the Terrace, Monte Carlo.

If he is especially prominent the local newspaper prints a line to the effect that "Monsieur X left Monaco yesterday on a long journey." The inflated know that that means that "Monsieur X's" body was found that morning.

Edmond Blanc, who has grown rich through to gambling concessions that that he has had so many years from the Prince of Monaco, has an efficient staff of press agents. They cover up the gruesome side of the game and show only the glittering, alluring one. No one ever hears much about losses.

MAN CURED BY RIB TICKLING

Customary Efforts for Relief Failing, Old Fashioned Method Succeeded.

Los Angeles.—A good old-fashioned tickling in the ribs restored to consciousness at the receiving hospital a patient whom the surgeons failed to revive by all the ethical methods known to them.

The patient was Fred Newman, a young man of religious fervor, who has been known to work himself up to such a pitch of enthusiasm that he would become unconscious. This happened to him, and when he was found in his room in a fainting condition he was rushed to the hospital.

Dr. Gage, the surgeon in charge, pronounced it a case of hysteria. He applied the usual restoratives, but they failed to work. Other remedies were then tried and they likewise failed.

Then one of the trained nurses at the institution had an inspiration. The tickling process was tried and after Newman's ribs had been tickled for a moment or two he sat up on the couch and crying, "Aw, quit it," made his way to the door, cured.

Lord Ordered His Vacation.

WHITE PIGEON BROUGHT LUCK

Perched on Wheel Box of the Fishing Boat and Gave It Fine Maiden Trip.

It is one of the pet beliefs of the fishing fleet folk that when a white bird flies aboard a ship at sea good luck is bound to follow. And if a white bird happens to fly aboard a brand new craft it insures the vessel with all kinds of joy forever. Out on Georges, two weeks ago today, a little pigeon fluttered down on the deck of the good ship Mary, perching on the wheel box. Result—good luck. Although Capt. Whallen's boat struck mighty hard weather, it came through without a scratch and landed 130,000 pounds of mixed ground fish, mostly hake and cusk, which is pretty nearly the record catch for a maiden trip.

The pigeon looked as though it had had some pretty hard luck itself before it fell in with the Mary, however. One of its wings was badly torn, as though a gull or a hawk had taken a piece out of it. The men aboard took good care of the pigeon, giving it plenty of food, although they made no attempt to confine it to any one part of the vessel. The bird made friends with every one, especially the cook, and refused to eat except out of the men's hands. As the Mary came up the harbor this morning, the bird was decked. Abreast of Governor's Island he suddenly took wing and flew away. The men said it looked to them as though the bird had recognized his surroundings in the inner harbor and had flown for home.—Boston Globe.

Avoiding a Cold.

Avoiding a cold is to a certain extent a matter of constitution; of habit; of manner of living and of mental hygiene. Some persons instinctively know the moment a cold begins to come on, and by stamping their feet hard on the floor and mentally defying it break it up at once. Others sit down by a hot fire and drink very hot water and get into a perspiration and then go to bed. Others inhale very hot air before a hot wood fire for a few times. A cold is a sort of nervous disease, caused probably by nervous shock from cold air on the neck or the base of the head or abdomen or back or feet or legs. These are the parts most susceptible. By toughening the skin and its nerves they bear cold better and thus colds are avoided. The habitual cold sufferer rarely has a cold, but many do not think they can bathe regularly, and so the skin becomes more and more sensitive, until finally the very least change of air produces a bad effect.

Chinese Workers in Cuba.

John Chinaman is ubiquitous in Havana. The census of 1899 shows a Chinese population of 2,751, and here as elsewhere they are industrious members of the community. Chinese men are seen carrying burdens swung from balanced shoulder poles after the manner of their native country. On the outskirts of the city and in the suburbs are extensive Chinese truck farms. The market garden industry is largely in their hands. The Chinese quarter is in Zanja and Aguila streets. The Chinese theater is in Zanja street. The Chinese in Cuba are reminders of the coolie trade, which brought here hundreds of thousands to virtual slavery. They were imported under a contract to serve eight years at $4 a month, and the planters paid $400 for them.—Havana Post.

Age of the Gambler.

The eighteenth century was the age of the great gamblers. On February 6, 1772, there was a debate in the house of commons on the 39 articles, and it was noticed that Fox spoke very indifferently. Horace Walpole suggests an explanation: "He had sat up playing at hazard at Almack's from Tuesday evening, the 4th, till 5 in the afternoon of Wednesday, the 5th. An hour before he had recovered £12,000 that he had lost; and by dinner, which was at 5 o'clock, he had ended losing £11,000. On the Thursday he spoke in the above debate, went to dinner at 11:30 at night, from there to White's, where he drank till 7 the next morning; thence to Almack's, where he won £8,000, and between 3 and 4 in the afternoon he set out for Newmarket.—London Chronicle.

Made Study of Dictionary.

To read a dictionary twice through for pleasure, as Lord Chatham did, is not a tempting suggestion. But there is a hint in Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff's diary of 1877, when he was doing a good deal of train traveling on the continent. "In these last days I have been exceedingly amused by Brachet's 'Etymological Dictionary,' which Henry Smith recommended to me when I was in Oxford the other day, and which is a perpetual succession of pleasant surprises. It is an admirable railway book for one who can only read at the stations." As the lord said who dipped into the dictionary while waiting for Sir Walter Scott, the dictionary stories are "unco short."—London Chronicle.

Sacred Signs Uncovered.

Excavations at Nazareth in Palestine have uncovered the spot on which stood the carpenter's workshop of Joseph, husband of Mary, mother of Jesus. The Franciscan monks, on whose property the discovery was made, have bought all the adjoining buildings, and intend to erect a magnificent temple to mark the spot. It is also believed that the spot where Christ's transfiguration took place has been found. It is an imposing rough hewn rock, resembling an ancient altar.

Earnestness Above All.

Some happy talent, and some fortunate opportunity, may form the two sides of the ladder on which some men mount, but the rounds of that ladder must be made of stuff to stand wear and tear; and there is no substitute for thorough-going, ardent and sincere earnestness. Never to put one hand to anything on which I could throw my whole self; and never to affect depreciation of my work, what ever it was, I find now to have been my golden rules.—David Copperfield.

Ruins of Old Roman Fort.

A Roman fort has been found on the farm of Murrills, near Lawleston Dumbartonshire, a mile or so to the east of Falkirk, Scotland. While plowing operations were in progress in a field on the farm referred to there were laid bare the foundations and ruined walls which had been buried for centuries. Several of the roads of streets were traceable. A local antiquarian expert, having been advised of the discovery, assisted in the search.

Newspaper's Great Influence.

The newspaper has greater influence in the home than any other printed thing, and your neighbor's conversation is largely made up of what he or she has read in the day's paper. What reaches them for the first time in today's issue in a week or a day later has become their belief and knowledge.

Much Required of Physicians.

In Beloochistan when a physician gives a dose he is expected to partake of a similar one himself as a guarantee of his good faith. Should the patient die under his hands the relatives, though they rarely exercise it, have the right of putting him to death, unless a special agreement has been made for freeing him from all responsibility as to consequences; while, if they should decide upon imolating him, he is expected to yield to his fate like a man.

Increased Honors.

Farmer Jenkins (with newspaper)—Wall, I want how that boy of St. Francis is getting along. Last year he was made a furrin' ambassador, and now, by crickey, the paper says he's a persona non grata.

SHIP'S CAT REFUSES TO SAIL

Reuben, a Monster Yellow Tom, Defies Vessel and Crew in Superstitious.

Bangor.—Something new in sea superstition is just now engaging the attention of the Grand Banks fishermen who sail from Bangor and Bangor. The facts are plain as day, but whether they mean good luck or bad no one has as yet been able to decide.

The sum and substance of it all is that Reuben, the monster white-and-yellow tomcat of the Bangor Grand Banker Lizzie Griffin has deserted—mutilated, in fact. He was born of a seafaring mother on board the schooner four years ago, and has sailed on her every season since, including hering trips to Newfoundland. But this spring, after a visit at the warehouse of the vessel's owners in Bangor, he manifested a strong aversion to the sea and declined to go to Bangorport to join the vessel. Captain Anderson had no idea of losing his pet and mascot, and so Reuben was put into a covered market basket and taken to Bangorport a prisoner.

Once on board the vessel, however, he glared savagely about, ahow and aloat, and then made a flying leap to the pier. Again and again was Reuben brought back on board, fifteen times in all, but every time he managed to escape and get back to the pier. Finally they put him in a box and fastened the cover securely, as they thought. Then the schooner's stern lines were cast off and she swung off into the stream, but the howl howler was still out, and before it could be cast off Reuben managed in some mysterious way to get out of his prison box and in an instant was over the bows, treading the hawser like a tight rope performer and reaching the pier safely. So they had to let him go, and now he is back in Bangor, at the Jones fish-house, where he spends the nights in chasing wharf rats and gossiping with the dispirited Toms and Tabs of Broad street.

Now, when rats desert a vessel, the crew all want to quit, for that is a sign of bad luck. To bring a black cat on board is also bad luck. The question is, "What sort of luck follows desertion and mutiny by a white and yellow cat—a regular sailor cat that can go aloft as quickly as any man?"

PAIR ARE BORN SAME DAY

G. W. Carroll, Jr., of Connecticut, and Miss Wilmsen of Pennsylvania, Entered World at Same Time.

Norwich, Conn.—At a hearty party given here recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wyman Carroll in honor of the fiancée of their only child, George Wyman Carroll, Jr., Miss Bertha Gertrude Wilmsen of Elkins Park, Pa., it became known that the couple had the same birthday, each being 26.

The engagement, which was recently announced with a big party at the home of Miss Wilmsen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilmsen, at Elkins Park, is the result of a romantic meeting at Saranac Lake, where Mr. Carroll was staying for his health. The young lady is heiress to a large fortune, while young Carroll will inherit in addition to the money of his parents, the colonial mansion and wealth of his great-aunt, Miss Sarah E. Pope, that of his bachelor uncle, Adams Pope Carroll, and considerable left him by his grandfather, the late Julius W. Carroll, and his great-grandfather, Jonathan Pope, one of the pioneer cotton manufacturers and railroad magnates of Connecticut.

The young man was prominent in dramatic and athletic circles at Brown university and also at St. Paul's school, Garden City, class of 1904, and at the Holbrook Military school at Ossining, N. Y., from which he was graduated. He entered Brown university in 1908.

The wedding will be celebrated at Elkins Park.

CHOPS OFF HER FINGERS

Step-Father Maims Girl Who Supports Him Because She Intended to Wed.

New York.—Salvatore Spino was content to let his step-daughter sit up nights over shirtwaists brought home from the sweatshop, so long as the money she earned with her nimble fingers went to him.

Recently she brought a young man home with her, and told him they were going to wed. The girl's fiancé, who had picked a home for Auntie, told Spino that he had better get a job, as in the future he would not live from a woman's earnings.

"You'll never sew for a worthless husband," cried the enraged man, and he struck her hand with a hatchet, chopping off all her fingers. He is held without bail for felonious assault.

Fish Interests Scientists.

Berkeley, Cal.—The garpike, a predatory fish of the Mississippi valley, one of the most remarkable creatures known to science for various reasons has been discovered to possess another element of the unusual in a strange gland in the head, which exists in no other organism of the animal kingdom and which has no known use. It is something like the vermiform appendix in human beings. Not so much in structure is this so, but in that it is apparently a vestige of evolution.

The garpike is one of the few remnants of a class of fishes which were abundant in prehistoric ages.

IN SELF DEFENSE

Power Plant Does Its Own Street Sprinkling.

For the past two weeks not a drop of water has been put on Daniel street, and the condition along that highway from dust has brought out no small amount of indignation on the part of the residents who are taxed yearly on sprinkling charges.

The Rockingham County Light & Power company to check the dust at the lower end of the street has been obliged to start up one of the salt water pumps and wet down with a stream from the river. The oil wagon has gone all over the city and outskirts, passing on all sides of Daniel street, but the dust there is allowed to blow and settle people.

No appeal appears to find a remedy, and it is about time that those who have charge of either oil or water wagons should be made to take some notice of the people and cut out this way of doing business which has reached the stage of a joke.

Kearsarge Veterans at the Yard

The survivors of the Kearsarge-Alabama battle who are holding their annual reunion at Dover today, came to the yard about noon accompanied by members of the Dover camp of Sons of Veterans, Grand Army and ladies. The party made the trip in fourteen automobiles and found much enjoyment in touring the reservation, especially the gallant heroes who saw their first duty aboard the famous vessel at this yard where she was built. Chief Boatswain O'Connell did the honors for the party in pointing out the objects of interest at the station.

Yard Officers Champions

The rubber game between the baseball nine representing the yard and the North Carolina was on at the prison grounds on Tuesday afternoon and was won by the yard officers. It is very evident that the cruiser men need a lot of diamond practice before they can hit the pace with the station men.

Wisconsin and Maine May Go to Sea

Reports have it that the U. S. S. Maine and Wisconsin now in first reserve at Philadelphia will be detached from the big fleet in ordinary at the League Island station during the summer and ordered to different divisions of the Atlantic fleet.

Junk Dealers Numerous

Numerous junk dealers from other cities are at the yard today offering figures on the condemned material to be offered for sale tomorrow.

Four Men and a Boy

One boy and four wood calkers were called in the hull division on Tuesday.

KEARSARGE VETERANS PASS THROUGH CITY

On Their Way to the Navy Yard Here.

Ideal weather conditions favored the Kearsarge survivors who celebrated the anniversary of that memorable battle off Cherbourg, France, by a visit to Dover where they were royally entertained by the members of Charles W. Sawyer post, G. A. R., and the Sons of Veterans.

On their arrival they were escorted to G. A. R. hall where an informal reception was held.

Shortly before noon the Kearsarge veterans members of the G. A. R. and other patriotic citizens boarded automobiles and came to the navy yard, passing through this city about 12:40 o'clock.

At the navy yard the time was passed in inspecting the points of interest on the cruiser North Carolina. The visit to the yard was enjoyed by all. The return trip to the up-river city was made in mid-afternoon.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ON AN OUTING

Party From Dover Enjoy Day at the Beaches.

Over fifty of the Catholic High school scholars of Dover came here today accompanied by their teachers where they took the cars for Foss and Hampton beaches to pass the day.

It is indeed gratifying to learn that so many of the graduates of Portsmouth High school are to pursue courses of studies in higher institutions.

AUTOMOBILE TAKES RIDE BY ITS LONESOME

Starts from Unexpected Cause—No Damage.

One of the queerest movements in an automobile was witnessed by people on Vaughan street recently. The owner of the machine had left it standing close to the sidewalk while he entered a store close by. Shortly after he entered his attention was attracted by a chorus of laughter on the street and he hurried to the door where he was compelled to join in the laugh as he watched his buzz wagon moving around unoccupied. The machine started from the right hand side of the highway, made nearly a half circle and went directly for the entrance of Hislop's garage. The auto was just about to pass through the door when one of the employees there climbed aboard and checked the speed. The owner for the first time realized that he had a trained machine.

MEN WANTED

On Friday, June 7th, a number of employees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company left their positions without notice and went on a strike which now exists. These represented almost entirely the newer, younger, more inexperienced men. A large majority of the men, including nearly all of the older, responsible men, remained with the Company and have faithfully served it in operating its car service, which has been well maintained over its entire system.

The Company wants at once suitable experienced Motormen and Conductors to fill the places of men who have left the service, and offers attractive, permanent employment not only to these but to other worthy persons who can qualify.

For full information, write or apply to Superintendent of Employment, 153 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.
